S. P. TO SEEK DISCONTINUANCE OF NILES TRAIN

LACK OF REVENUE GIVEN AS REASON BEHIND APPLICATION

Southern Pacific today announced that it will ask the California Railroad Commission for permission to discontinue regular passenger train operation between Oakland and Tracy via Altamont Pass. Freight service would not be affected.

The move for abandonment of the single passenger train on this route, operating daily in each direction, comes as a result of steadily decreasing patronage over a long period of years, according to F. S. McGinnis, vice president in charge of passenger traffic for the railroad. Present out-of-pocket loss in the operation, he said, is $17,000 per year.

"We are faced here as in many other regions with the fact that transportation habits of the public have undergone a marked change," McGinnis said. "This change has been brought about largely by the advent of new highway facilities built at public expense, the convenience of the private automobile for relatively short trips, and the competition of bus transportation.

"We have reached the point where we must of necessity curtail all operations which are no longer patronized by the public and which therefore constitute a heavy financial burden upon our operations as a whole. We must do this to make available the funds necessary to improve popular and essentil services, both passenger and freight, such as our fast merchandise trains and long-haul passenger operations."

Reflecting the general move to discontinue losing operations, Mc Ginnis pointed out, are the railroad's recent disposal of its interests in street railway systems in San Jose, Stockton and Fresno; the forthcoming abandonment of the San Francisco-Marin county interurban service; abandonment of substantial parts of Pacific Electric's lines in southern California and substitution of buses; abandonment of the Santa Cruz-Los Gatos line; withdrawal of financial support from the Southern Pacific of Mexico; and proposed abandonment of the Interurban Electric Railway's service between San Francisco and East Bay cities over the Bay Bridge.

The Post Office Department, it was stated, has indicated its intention of providing an improved mail service to points on the Oakland-Altamont Pass-Tracy line by means of star routes as soon as authority is given for the train discontinuance.

CONFUSION IN NAMES OF LOCAL ROADS IS NOTED

UNIFORMITY IN NAMES, PROPER SIGNING, OFFER VALUABLE CIVIC PROJECT

The Township Register is in receipt of the following interesting communication, which will arouse the interest of every Township resident:

Decoto, California
November 9, 1940

Township Register:

Now that the election is over, let us devote some of our thoughts to local matters.

Let us modernize! If the question were asked, "Where do you live in Washington Township?" I wonder how many people living in territory outside of town limits actulally know—I don't,—do you?

For instance: The road between Niles and Alvarado is variously known as the Nursery Road, Niles-Alvarado Road, Creek Road, Pabrico Road, and near Alvarado as the Niles Road,—look at the telephone directory!

Santos Ave changes to Mowry Road at the intersection with High way 17, (Main Street, Hesperian Boulevard).

In Irvington we have the Durham Road and Osgood Road the same. We have a Blacow Road known occasionally as the Mattos Road.

The Decoto Road (Bell Ranch Road) changes to the Jarvis Road at the intersection with Highway 17; this road is also referred to as the Dumbarton Road.

The upper Highway, correctly 101E, is called the Niles Road, also E 14th Street by some.

The Marsh Road out of Alvarado winds up in Newark as Dairy Ave.

Another road near Alvarado is signed Alquire Road, W-Alvarado Road, Valle Vista Road.

All of this is very confusing. Recently a friend of mine arrived in Newark after dark, and asked to be directed to the P.G. & E. substation. He arrived at his destination after about one and one half hours of straying around on unmarked, un-named roads.

Why not have our various civic organizations get together with the County Surveyor, and our Supervisor, and give single names to our roads? Have all intersections mark ed, then the stranger in our midst can find his way around, we can in an emergency direct the Fire Department, police, or a doctor definitely and directly to our door.

Let's find out where we live!

Roland Bendel,
Nursery Road, (Creek Road—Niles-Alvarado Road etc.).

* * *

Editor's note: Mr. Bendel has made a bully suggestion. Each community's most representative organization, civic or otherwise should appoint a committee of three at their next meetings, to be ready to meet as a committee of the whole on an evening and at a place to be designated, say, by the Township Coordinating Council, once the latter body can make an appointment for Supervisor Hellwig and a member of the County Surveyor's office to be present.

A new Postal Telegraph electric clock was installed this week in the office at Joe GILMORE'S Service station at the west end of Niles. Joe says it's the largest clock in town.

CLUB VETERANS PRESENTED WITH MEDALS

Mrs. J. E. Thane (left) of Niles and Mrs. Anna B. Haley of Newark are presented with pioneer club women's medals by Mrs. F. T. Dusterberry, district president. Both Mrs. Thane and Mrs. Haley have been members since the club was organized in 1896, the second oldest in the county. Mrs. Thane who served as district president 35 years ago was previously presented with a medal proclaiming her the outstanding pioneer club woman of the district.

W. U. H. S. WINS ARMISTICE DAY GAME 20 TO 7

PATRIOTIC EXERCISES PRECEDE PLAYING OF ANNUAL GRID CONTEST

Some 800 residents of Washington and Livermore Townships converged on the football field of Livermore High School Armistice afternoon at 1:30 o'clock and enjoyed a half-hour of patriotic exercises provided by the schools and Legion Posts of both townships, under the direction of Jack Vieux of Niles.

Massed colors of the veterans organizations of Niles and Livermore passed in review before the filled bleachers. Bands of both schools, accompanied by the Sons of Legion Drum corps marched and played several selections.

Principal E. D. Bristow of Niles Elementary School made an Armistice Day address over a loudspeaker; a firing squad fired three volleys and taps was sounded for the Departed Soldiers.

At 2:30 the annual grid classic between Washington and Livermore high schools got off to a fast start.

Although the Washington Huskers were superior in offensive driving power, both teams played heads-up football. Early in the first half Washington went over after but three first downs, for the first score of the contest. With in a few minutes the Huskers completed a beautiful story-book pass and a husky galloped over the goal line to make the score 13 to 0.

Both squads see-sawed through the next two quarters in a push and pull contest. In the last quarter the Livermore boys campleted a power drive for their only touchrown and completed a pass conversion, making the tally 13 to 7. Not to be outdone, Washington scored again ending a fine game with a clean 20 to 7 victory. Frequent fumbles and recoveries by both sides kept the spectators on their toes.

That evening the members of Washington Township Post of the American Legion enjoyed a stag dinner at their Memorial Hall with numbers of visitors present from other posts.

Bible selections will include the following passage from Galatians 5: 16—18: "This I say then, Walk in the Spirit, and ye shall not fulfil the lust of the flesh. But if ye be led of the Spirit, ye are not under the law."

The belief that life and sensation are in the body should be overcome by the understanding of what constitutes man as the image of God. Then Spirit will have over come the flesh" (p. 289).

GROUNDWORK FOR DEFENSE LAID IN SCHOOLING YOUTH

CENTERVILLE — The need for total defense of the country from a patriotic and health standpoint as well as from one of military preparedness was stressed at the discussion group dinner held at Washington Union High School Wednesday night with Jack Rees as chairman. That the schools must play a major part in this defense program was stressed by all speakers.

Those leading the discussion were Alvin Morse of the high school faculty; Principal A. J. Rathbone who gave a report of the recent conference on the national emergency at the University of California; Jack MacGregor, principal of the Newark Grammar School and Barton L. Webb, principal of the night school.

Morse suggested that one of the most important developments in the country in general should be the fusing and amalgamation of all groups and that the over-departmentalism of labor, agriculture and industry should be guarded against. Rathbone gave excerpts from talks of various speakers at the Berkeley conference bringing out that the schools had been much criticised for the lack of skilled workers and other matters. He questioned the full responsibility of the schools in this respect.

MacGregor spoke of the part of elementary education in the national defense. Webb outlined subjects taught in the night school of particular importance in the defense program, mentioning the Americanization and beginning English classes, diesel engine, and wise use of liesure time. He said that the night school program had been started originally for Americanization work.

If the schools are to have an important part in the national defense, then the opportunities of schools in every section of the country should be equallized, several speakers said. It was pointed out that some States spend $134 per year per pupil while in others only $24 per year per pupil is available.

Those present were invited to attend the last of the series of four forums on defense to be held at the high school next Monday night at 8 o'clock at which time Dr. John Brown Mason of Fresno State College will discuss the internal defense of the United States as related to sabotage, fifth column activities and communism.

Mrs. Dorothy Nickel was taken to the hospital Monday with a stomach disorder.

TOTAL OF STATE UNEMPLOYED SHOWS SUBSTANTIAL DROP

DEFENSE ORDERS WILL REDUCE REMAINDER TO IRRIDUCIBLE MINIMUM

(Special to the Register)

In Alameda county during August, 1940, 4,624 cases, numbering 13,250 persons, received $130,808 under the unemployment relief program of State Relief Administration, according to an analysis of the lastest data available, made public by California Taxpayers' association. During the first eight months of this year, the association found, $1,600,291 of taxpayers' money has been payed to unemployed persons in the county by the SRA.

SRA is but one of the relief agencies unemployed persons, the association pointed out. The federal government, under the WPA the Farm Security administration, and other agencies, also assists unemployed employable persons. The total case load over the state as a whole for all these agencies on August 1 was 129,122. Translated into every-day language, this means that about 120,000 heads of families who could hold jobs were unemployed and certified as eligible for relief under the SRA, WPA, FSA, and other unemployment relief programs.

During 1940 the SRA case load in California has declined steadily since its all-time peak case load of 114,693 at January 31, 1940, to 52,673 at the end of August, 1940. This drop in SRA case load reflects both improved business conditions in the state and more careful state policy with regard to SRA operations, the association declared. Payrolls in California in August showed a gain of about 24 per cent over a year ago, while factory employment increased 19 per cent over the same month in 1939.

Such increases in employment, the association pointed out, do not begin to show the vast stimulus to industry and to employment which should come when the national defense program really gets under way in California. More than a billion dollars in orders for airplanes and ships, as a part of the national defense program, have already been placed in California and with the services and supplies for all the other businesses which must accompany increased employment in these industries, there is little reason for any sizeable group of "employable unemployed" to be left in California.

MORE NAMES ARE FILED ON OLSON RECALL PETITION

SAN FRANCISCO — Olson Recall Committee, Inc. today filed petitions containing a little over 500 names for the recall of Governor Culbert L. Olson in San Mateo County. This filing definitely contradicts the rumors and reports emanating from Olson supporters that the movement had "folded up".

There are now on file in the Secretary of State's office certificates showing a total of 248,374 qualified names of voters who have signed the petition for the recall of Olson. San Mateo is the eleventh county to file. It is expected that the percentage of good names in the San Mateo filling will approximate the percentage of good names filed in the other several Bay Area counties and will add approximately 4,000 names to the 248,374 now certified to the Secretary of State.

This leaves forty-seven counties from which the remainder of some 66,000 names are yet to be secured.

GRACIAS! — Your editor is very appreciative of the fine manner in which subscription checks flow in from Township Register readers.

Some few names, inherited from my predecessor, still remaining on our list, names of parties who pay no attention to repeated bills and even personal letters, who are slowly being weeded out.

LETTER BOX

Dear Mr. Waynflete:

In the November 8, 1940 edition of your newspaper under "Personally Speaking" you make the following statement:

"Mr. Roosevelt had every lawful right to refer to Mr. Kennedy as 'MY' Ambassador: an ambassador is a president's personal representative—though it sounded terribly egotistical the way he said it."

This is quite puzzling to me, maybe there is some statute somewhere that makes an ambassador the personal representative of the president, but I fail to find it and should like to be enlightened on the subject as my civil government states "An ambassador is a minister of the highest rank, employed by government to represent it, and to manage its interests at the court or seat of government of some other power. . ."

Does the term "government" here relate only to the president? We have always considered that the government was the people, and that the president was only our servant, there to execute the laws made by the legislature, but maybe we are all wrong, maybe the "New Deal" has so centered the powers of government in the hands of the president that he really is the government. Won't you clear this up for us and greatly oblige.

Yours very truly,
Elizabeth Haskell Sloan

* * *

Dear Mrs. Sloan:

Thanks for putting me right on the fact an ambassador represents a government, rather than a single member of it.

So far as clearing up what the New Deal regards as "government": more than 21 million of us tried to clear that up at the polls last week, without success.

So I'll have to "pass the buck" back to the author of the statement "MY" ambassador." (Dont we all?)

With regrets, sincerely,
Walter Waynflete

That article on Newark in your last issue was full of errors.

The town was named for the city of Newark N. J. by Mr. David, the general manager of the railroad. His two sons, San and Tom were conductors on the trains for years till they resigned at the age to draw pensions.

I cant imagine what "Pioneers" told you differently.

OIL CO. OFFERS SLOW MOTION FILMS OF FOOTBALL GAMES

Announcement of a new service for football fans was made today by Harold R. Deal, advertising manager for Tide Water Associated Oil Company. Arrangements have been completed to provide slow-motion pictures of 1940 football games for showing before schools, clubs, lodges and other interested groups throughout the Pacific Coast.

A ruling made by the Pacific Coast Conference several years ago prohibits public showing of any films of games in which either of the competing teams represents a university or college in this conference.

Four films, taken of independent teams' games during the 1940 season, are announced as being available for free showings anywhere in the West. Pictures of the St. Mary's vs. Gonzaga, University of San Francisco vs. St. Mary's, Loyola vs. St. Mary's and Creighton University vs. University of San Francisco are offered in the selection announced today. The films are unusually clear and distinct and the slow motion reveals all of the details of play normally not seen by the spectator at the games.

Arrangements for a showing locally can be made by contacting the Associated sales representative in this city.

Mrs. Ray Fussell returned to her home in Irvington last Sunday after spending several weeks with relatives in Los Angeles.

Andrew Costa Jr., is now up and around after a recent illness.

THE TREATY OF VERSAILIES, or: THE BETTER BRUTE

Dr. Robert Kerner of the University of California faculty, who opened the forum series of addresses on National Defense several weeks ago in Washington High school auditorium, himself more of a prophet and a crusader than a pedantic professor, made a dramatic thrust at the Treaty of Versailles and its failure . . . and made clear to this scribe WHY our sons have to do over again that which we oldsters thought we had done satisfactoriy overseas 22 years ago.

And here's the professor's original diagnosis of the collapse of the Treaty signed in the Hall of Mirrors, together with his prescription for the cure, which brave England is now undertaking, and in which we Americans may have to assist:

When the starving German troops in November 1918 applied for an armistice, they should not have been given any. The Allies, though weary, should have pressed their advantage and invaded untouched Germany and should have trampled her into the same semblance of jelly the Huns had made of Northern France after four years of war.

They should have staged victory marches along Unter Der Linden, should have rubbed the Jerries' snouts into the very filth of the pigsty Kaiser Bill and his Prussians had made of western European culture and civilization. The Teutonic war-spirit then would have been crushed irretrievably, never to be revived.

Or: the Gilded Treaty having been granted, it should have been enforced to the last letter: no rearmanment, no repatriation of Alsace-Lorraine nor the Ruhr Valley, the reparations should have been paid, etc. Such a dominated Germany would still be functioning in an orderly and harmless manner.

The Allies now see their error on the side of mercy and justice—too late. It all has to be done over again, this time with a vengeance. A mad bull can only be restrained by superior force. England is now making the effort, and America again may have to help.

France is done for, unless the Anglo-Saxons can rescue her. Hitler's Achilles heel is his desperate need of high test gasoline—or any gasoline, for that matter. Together we should be able to stymie his supply.

Itally is so broke from her Ethiopian-Spanish adventures she is scarcely a threat. The Italian soldier does not have his heart in fighting either England or America.

Japan is so bogged down, spent and broke by her unwarranted Chinese debacle she can only rattle swords and pray that nobody hears.

Russia, alas, according to the professor, who lived there in 1935, has an industrial "machine" so insecurely fastened together that a plain American safety pin would look like a complex mechanism to the Soviet peasant-mechanic's illiterate mind.

So there's only one real enemy to fight, and he is Hitler and his Nazis. If Holland could have stood up to the invader for only three days the history of the world would have been changed, the professor stated,

If Greece can last three weeks, the Balkans may be saved for the Balkan rather than the imperialistic nations. If Hitler can capture the Dardennelles, the Bosphorus, Syria and the Suez Canal he will hold the bridge-head to world power, according to Professor Kerner.

But there's a very large IF there. Dont forget: the thinner he spreads himself out the greater the problem of transportation and supply. While starvation is not imminent either in Germany or the conquered nations, the matter of raw materials, war supplies AND gasoline will probably whip Hitler yet.

There is no perfect crime, and this arch-criminal Hitler will yet be hoist on his own petard.

* * * *

If Hitler wins, there wont be any peace treaty: just a series of orders. If (and when) England whips the beast into submission, there wont be any pretty peace treaty either, all decked out with Wilson's splendid idealism; there will only be blunt orders, enforced at the points of bayonets and machine guns. And wont that be fine?

We peace-loving Christian nations were too lenient and gallant to a fallen foe last time; it's been a hard lesson to learn. While learning it, seven peace-loving nations have ceased to be . . . They can be revived once the Hitler machine cracks up, as crack up it will.

Who assumed Caesar's toga? Or Napolean's? Or Huey Long's? Nobody. Dont forget: genius is never transmittable. Genius is a peculiar, an unique combination of forces, both celestial and terrestrial which, once broken up, can never be re-assembled in the same pattern.

We softies now have to learn how to be bigger and better brutes (temporarily) than our totalitarian adversaries, and we have to learn to fight saloon fashion, no holds barred and dog-eat-dog.

Once we throttle the Hitlers and their satellites we can then have things OUR way, ruled and governed according to the best of civilized, Christian thoughts and standards.

The Hitlers can never have things THEIR way. If they do, civilization perishes, and Christianity along with it.

One wonders if our Creator and Redeemer are the least bit interested in what's going on on this old earth: or are they too busy creating new universes to even remember this tired old world, once known to Adam and Eve (and the jolly little serpent!)?

* * * *

"Teddy" Roosevelt never took any guff from anybody: man or nation. Those were the days when men were men, treaties were respected and honor was kept.

Why? Because that older Roosevelt had led a charge up San Juan hill and knew what it was to sweat under a tropic sun, eat spoiled meat, shoot and be shot at.

The world is again in the vortex of a fighting era, and we need MEN, and steel and sweat and bullets and guts. The noble era of trial and error will have to be replaced by fundamentals—if we are to survive. The only trial balloons which now can keep us safe as a nation are balloon barrages and readiness to engage in trial by combat: if, as and when. —W.W.

The United States has helped finance the armament programs of Russia, Germany, Japan and Italy which have sold gold to our Treasury. During 1936 to 1939 the U. S. Treasury purchased $216,000,000 of refined bullion bearing the Russian stamp.

IT'S GREAT TO BE AN AMERICAN!

As soon as the election returns were tallied last week Willkie, the loser, wired his congratulations and good wishes to Roosevelt, the winnah. Roosevelt wired back his thanks.

ONLY IN FREE AMERICA could such charity and sportsmanship express itself. . .

The same day, in Germany, the executioner's axe cut off the heads of five citizens who had talked against — not "the government", heavens, no! — who had talked against HITLER.

Here in America we can talk for or against our President, while we go on with our work to make and keep this nation strong: then we can go home to our safe, quiet homes and eat our ample dinners and, with our families, enjoy our Christian heritage of BEING AMERICANS!

From July 1935, when the National Labor Relations Act was passed, to March 1940, there were 13,696 strikes in which 78,970,000 man-days were lost.

IN THE ENTIRE WESTERN HEMISPHERE ONLY CALIFORNIA PRODUCES ALMONDS

SACRAMENTO — An agricultural industry that is unique to California, that represents an investment of $30,000,000, that employs some 30,000 workers in its peak seasons . . . these facts tell something of the story of almond culture in this state.

Almond culture is unique to California because, according to the California Almond Growers Exchange, this crop is grown nowhere else in the United States, or for that matter, in the entire Western Hemisphere.

Like so many of California's crops, the first almonds were introduced by the Mission Fathers, and soon each new mission had its orchard. But it was not until after the gold rush had subsided and settlers had discovered a different kind of gold could be found in California's soil that almond culture began to grow into one of the state's basic agricultural industries.

Today there are 96,620 acres devoted to almond plantings in California, largely located in the Sacramento and San Joaquin valleys. Almond production in 1939 amounted to approximately 20,000 tons,

LET'S KEEP OUR STANDARDS UP

Nation's Business

In spite of continued depression, the people of the United States are blessed with the highest living standard that civilization has ever known.

We use two-thirds of the world's automobiles, half of its telephones and forty per cent of its railways. We consume a third of the world's coffee, sugar and electric energy, better than half of its rubber and silk.

The mechanical labor saving devices in the homes of American workers are the envy of even the wealthy people abroad. Our personal standards are up. We shave and bathe once a day instead of once a week or month. We have learned to loathe unclean teeth and unwholesome breath.

All this had to be sold to us, says Nation's Business. We did not just happen to gravitate upward. People don't do that. It would be untrue to say that advertising did all this for the people of the United States. But it is entirely true that advertising inspired and stimulated it.

It is the job of advertising to quicken the exchange of goods in the nation's market places. To fulfill its mission, advertising not only tells you about these goods but tries to excite your desire for them. It pictures them as a means toward lightening your burdens, increasing your leisure, enhancing your attractiveness, building your health, protecting your home and family, putting more satisfaction into your life.

Advertising should be encouraged to go on its cheerful, constructive way, helping to build the nation to greater economic strength, maintaining our living standards through whatever may come to us in a troubled world.

While I am not going into the produce business, this is to say to farm subscribers so situated, that I will accept perishable farm produce in lieu of cash on subscriptions, so long as low-prices prevail for the farmers.

LOCAL DE SOTO DEALER WINS PLAUDITS

Clarence B. Crane, Niles De Soto- Plymouth dealer, received congratulations and praise this week for his aggressive cooperation in introducing the new 1941 De Soto to this locality. The plaudits came from Van W. Peabody, vice president and general manager for James F. Waters, northern California De Soto-Plymouth distributor.

"Records show us to be the world's largest distributor of De Soto motor cars and the World's biggest Plymouth retailer," Mr. Peabody stated. We know this enviable top position can be held only with cars of exceptional merit and a group of alert associate dealers and salesmen carrying out our unyielding policy of a square deal to the motoring public.

"Our hearty thanks and congratulations go to Mr Crane" Mr Peabody declarde. "We consider him one of our most consistent producers, well liked by all who know him.

"In congratulating Mr Crane," Mr. Peabody went on to say, "we must also pay tribute to a car of outstanding merit.

When it was announced that the sensational fluid drive with simplimatic transmission would be a sands ofhbestcc etaoin etaoinaooo feature of De Soto this year, thousands of inquiries began pouring in from people who wanted to know how it worked. When they grasped its simplicity and the vastly added ease in driving which fluid drive affords, the factory was hard put to supply the demand. Now, however, we have caught up with back orders and no new buyer will have to wait for his De Soto with fluid drive," Peabody concluded.

Arthur Cotton, local building contractor is building two addition al new homes on Locust street.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to express my sincere appreciation to the voters for the fine support I received on November 5.

CHESTER E. STANLEY

GEORGE P. HELLWIG THANKS THE VOTERS

Expressing his thanks to those who re-elected him to the Supervisorial post in the first district, George Hellwig today reiterated his pre-election statements that he would strive to keep Alameda County the leading and progressive county of the State, particularly in economy of government.

"I am indeed grateful and, need less to say, very happy over my re-election as one of the Supervisors of Alameda County." Hellwig said, "I consider it a vote of confidence by the taxpayers of this county, not only for myself, but for the entire Board of Supervisors. Co-operation between members of a governing body is of paramount importance and the Alameda County Board of Supervisors is a perfect example of this fact. The voters have returned all of the incumbent supervisors to office this year, which means they will receive the same business-like and economical county government they have received in the past.

"It is impossible for me to thank, individually, the many friends and organizations that worked on my behalf. So I take this means to express to them, my sincere and whole hearted appreciation."

SAN JOSE STATE COPS FOOTBALL GAME FROM C. O. P.

NEWARK — William Gould and Eugene Pashote attended the San Jose State-College of Pacific football game at San Jose State College stadium, Friday evening. San Jose had too much power for the Stockton team in the final half of the game. It seems that "Pop" Warner of San Jose still can outsmart Amos Stagg of the College of Pacific. The final score was San Jose State 28, College of Pacific 7. There were about 12,000 people present.

Newark has the honor of Lawrence Waldt playing in the State College's colorful band which gave the people present during the half some real music and card stunts.

Thelma Henderson of Santa Cruz spent the weekend visiting here with Miss Florence May.

New Television Tube Can Pierce Fog, Haze

A television transmitting tube that can pierce fog and haze to pick up scenes for transmission through the ether has been developed in the laboratories of the Radio Corporation of America.

The screen of the new tube picks up scenes by the heat waves given off by objects in the scene. Technically, these are known as infrared rays and unlike light waves, they pierce fog and haze. Thus, what is primarily projected on the screen is not a light image of the scene but a "heat" or infra-red image.

Instead of being photo-electric as the ordinary "tele-eye" or Iconoscope of the television pick-up cameras, the screen is thermo-electric, that is, electric potentials are generated in it when heat waves strike it. The thermo-electric sensitive screen is disclosed as being a fine film of germanium, a rare earth metal, mounted on a thin sheet of mica.

When the heat image is projected on it localized potential differences appear in the film as a result of temperature differences in different elemental areas of the heat image. These correspond to lights and shadows of the scene. Now when the image on the screen is scanned by a pencil beam of electrons, electrical currents are released from the film corresponding with the lights and shadows of the scene. These impulses are amplified and converted into a visible image corresponding to that broadcast.

With the new tube it would be possible, for example, to televise a hot electric iron or a stove in a dark room.

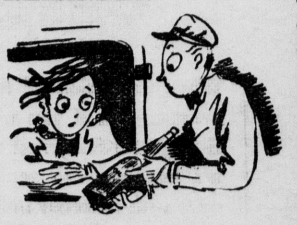
A TIMELY REMINDER



A car may be driven many miles on a CHEAP grade of gasoline with little permanent harm to the engine. But to drive only a few miles with a poor grade of OIL in the crankcase causes damage that never can be fully repaired.
